

ABSTRACT / ZUSAMMENFASSUNG / ABREGE

00128219.3

A method of controlling a server (1) in a network (2) is described, and a server, said server being arranged to output documents (112), where said network comprises a plurality of servers, said servers being arranged such that documents output by said servers are identified by network addresses, said method comprising; providing a document (111) to be output by said server, and if said document to be output comprises one or more network addresses (20), determining if a network address meets a predetermined condition, amending a network address that meets said predetermined condition with an address supplement, and outputting the document (112) to be output with the amended address (21).